THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Andover Lodge No. 230, I. O. O. F., Holds Observance in Fraternal Hall on Wednesday Evening. Degree Work Performed by Past Noble Grands

Thirty years of Odd Fellowship was fittingly celebrated by Andover Lodge, 230, in Fraternal Hall Wednesday night when the past noble grands from 1895 to 1922 exemplified the work before a large gathering of members of the order, including many from out of town. Herbert W. Ford, noble grand, presided at the opening of the exercises.

Among the guests of honor was Robert Hill of Methuen, the first district deputy grand master of the lodge. Two other district deputies, Charles Robinson and Judson Harvey, were present, and two charter members, William C. Harraden of North Andover and A. Lincoln Cates, the first secretary, had a very active part in the celebration.

Of the seventy-five members elected at the meeting when the lodge was instituted seven were present Wednesday night: John S. Harnden, George E. Holt, Fred M. Hill, Frank L. Holt, George D. Lawson, J. Frank Morse, and Frank M. Smith.

The initiatory degree was conferred in a most creditable manner by the past grands of the lodge, on Howard E. Stickney. His father, Lafayette Stickney, eighty years old, of Portsmouth, N. H., and a past noble grand of the order, was present at the ceremony.

William C. Harraden, the oldest living noble grand, performed the degree and he was assisted by the following officers, who have served in the noble grand's chair:

V.G., A. Lincoln Cates, 1901; Con., Frank M. Smith, 1897; War., George D. Lawson, 1898; P.G., Ira Buxton, 1918; Chap., David M. May, 1899; I.G., Frank L. Holt, 1900; O. Con., William A. Allen, 1904; R.S.N.G., Benjamin Hibbert, 1913; L.S.N.G., John A. True, 1915; R.S.V.G., George C. Dunnells, 1908; L.S.V.G., David C. Leslie, 1917; R.S.S., Fred M. Hill, 1899; I.S.S., Walter E. Buxton, 1911; S.B., Elmer E. Philbrick, 1921; S.B., George Stott, 1922; S.B., James H. Hovey, 1909; S.B., George D. Lawson, 1901.

Frank M. Smith was conductor at the first initiation in the old G.A.R. hall in 1895, and vice grand to William C. Harraden in 1896.

At the conclusion of the work refreshments were served. Herbert W. Ford acted as toastmaster and called upon several of those present to speak including Robert Hill, Charles Robinson and Judson Harvey, past D.D.G.M.; William C. Harraden and A. Lincoln Cates, charter members; Frank M. Smith, P.N.G., and Lafayette Stickney. On account of illness in the family, Fred McIntosh of North Andover, the present district deputy, was unable to be present.

The members of the committee in charge of the anniversary were: Bertram Stott, George Brown, Donald D. Laurie, Herbert W. Ford, James Craik, William C. Harraden, Alex Mackenzie, A. Lincoln Cates, Frank M. Smith.

The first steps toward the formation of a subordinate lodge in Andover were taken in the summer of 1894, and one of the most active workers for its formation was Walter H. Coleman, who later served as noble grand in 1898. Associated with him were Eugene

First Game on New Athletic Field Results in Overwhelming Victory for Home Team

Phillips Andover made a good start Saturday on its new gridiron, defeating Harvard fresh, 13 to 0, in a game where the honors belong to the Blue. Andover led easily, in the day's play and the Crimson failed to show the strength expected.

The opposition on the whole was rather mediocre and Andover experienced no difficulty as it registered its third consecutive victory of the present season.

It was Harvard's first game which may account for the team's poor showing.

Norman Darbe, former Haverhill high luminary, had the honor to score the first points on the new field. He scooped up a loose oval in the second period and ran 27 yards for a touchdown. Billhardt tried to drop kick the other point, but he missed, when the ball sailed wide.

In the fourth period, Andover picked up its other points, Billhardt and Sandberg registered six and one respectively.

Darbe and Billhardt were the outstanding players in a game that produced few stars. Darbe was fast down the field covering punts, handled passes well, and followed the ball alertly.

Billhardt bore the brunt of the Andover defense. He sledged the line, ran the ends, and flung the oval for substantial gains. Timidity handling punts, was his real weakness.

Andover's line was subjected to a test in the waning moments of the first and early part of the second periods. Sandberg made a beautiful pass which Darbe should have grabbed, but instead he allowed it to be grounded. Sandberg was forced to punt and this paved the way for a Harvard drive.

Putting the ball in play on Andover's 36-yard line, Galloway, aided by Chauncey and Linscott, rushed the ball to the ninety-yard line. Galloway twice crashed his way through for first downs and with the ball on the six-yard line and second down, the Andover line stiffened and hurled Galloway back for no gain. Changing fields for the second period, Galloway again smashed the

SAFETY OF LIFE AND PROPERTY

Selectmen Arrange "No Parking" Zones on Park Street Opposite Fire Station. Electric Car Stop Moved South Where Traffic Officer is Stationed

A hearing was held in the lower Town hall Wednesday evening, to listen to the protests of the business men, who objected to the ruling of the selectmen, that no automobiles be parked between a point beyond the Buchanan and McNally block and Lyle Brothers' service station.

Besides the selectmen, the following business men were present: Joseph W. McNally, Bert Lyte, Edward Wilson, James Dempsey, and William Rennie.

After hearing the protests, the selectmen decided to make a test Thursday morning, and after the fire apparatus had been driven out of the engine house several times, it was decided that two small "no parking" zones, one in front of the Western Union office and another in front of Dompier's battery shop would give room for the fire apparatus to be driven out in either direction. A large group of citizens gathered to watch the proceedings.

As a result of the tests, the "no parking" zone, which was painted white on Tuesday, was eliminated, and the new zones were painted in yesterday.

Beginning this morning Andover and Lawrence cars will stop to take on and discharge passengers near the crossing from Cross's to Lindsay's market. This change was made as a result of the fatal accident which recently occurred at the safety zone, opposite Memorial hall.

The selectmen have made this decision after much deliberation in which several plans were considered. Although the new stop has several disadvantages, this plan is thought to be best solution of present difficulties, and will be given a fair trial. It is thought best to arrange the stop where a policeman is usually stationed, as it is impossible at present to employ a second officer for service in Elm square.

Great Cast Appears in "Three Weeks"
Probably no motion picture cast ever before was selected with so much care as that of "Three Weeks," the Goldwyn studios' film version of Elinor Glyn's famous love story, showing at the Colonial theatre, Monday and Tuesday, October 20, and 21. Mrs. Glyn herself came to the Goldwyn studios from London to assist in the filming of her novel, and collaborated with Alan Crosland, the director, in selecting the players.

First came the Queen—one of the most famous characters of modern fiction. She must be beautiful, dignified, mysterious, subtle, with a mixture of fierce Slavic passion, and the repression of a woman worn down by cruelty—but above all, a regal, commanding Queen. Aileen Pringle, a little known screen actress then, was chosen for the role—not for any "commercial value" her name might carry—but because she was the living, breathing Queen as described by Mrs. Glyn in her novel.

Then "Paul"—tall, handsome, blond, typically English—was to be chosen. The choice—Conrad Nagel, prominent screen leading man, selected not only because he fit the physical requirements of the role, but because he is recognized also as one of the outstanding actors of the screen.

The lesser members of the cast were chosen with equal care. All of the other characters of the story are European, and nearly all are Slavic. Mr. Crosland and Mrs. Glyn insisted that the players look their parts, and considered scores of actors both great and unknown, for each role.

John Sainpolis, noted character actor, was signed as the dissolute, brutal, Balkan king. Stuart Holmes and Robert Cain, both finished film players, were cast as "Petrovich" and "Verchoff," the king's unscrupulous aides.

Mitchell Lewis, Dale Fuller, and Nigel de Bruille were selected to play the naive servants of the Queen, and lend their ability to minor but very difficult roles.

Claire de Lorez, noted screen beauty, was brought to Los Angeles from New York to play the part of Mitzi, wild, passionate gypsy girl who charms the king, and indirectly causes the death of the Queen.

H. Reeve-Smith, for year a prominent stage actor of New York, was lured to the screen for the first time in "Three Weeks," and plays a relatively small part as Sir Charles, father of Paul.

This is true of Lawrence as well as of other cities. The management of the Colonial theatre in Lawrence announces that next week will be "Tommie Martelle" week there, and that means that the number of empty seats at the nice performances—the demand for tickets already has caused the management to add an extra matinee on Friday—will be mighty few.

It really makes little difference what Tommie's play is, Tommie is a drawing card all by himself. But the fact that he is said to have the best play by far since "The Fascinating Widow" only adds to the interest in the coming of that unusual actor.

Martelle's play this year is "Naughty Mam'zelle," a play written especially for him. He has been playing it since early in the season with great success. Of course he masquerades as a woman. He does more this time. There is a prologue in which Martelle does some serious acting. He has the role of a young man who is put out of the house because he has been masquerading as a woman and because his father thinks he has disgraced the family.

Tommie goes to Tiptoe Inn in the Cat-skills and does things. The girl he is in love with is there and so is her uncle who wants to marry her off to a professor with money. Martelle finds that the old man (the girl's uncle) has had an affair with a French actress whom he later represents. It would spoil things to go too much into detail as to plot, but it is sufficient to say that complications of a merry nature follow.

Martelle has a fine new wardrobe of real woman's clothes! And it is some wardrobe! It is said to have cost no less than $12,500, but it is worth it, every bit of it! And Tommie can look good in those clothes. Yes, and Tommie sings. "The House of Love," "Misses Queenie Tut," "Naughty Mam'zelle," "Love Blooms But Once," are some of the songs hits of the piece.

The Colonial theatre, Lawrence, is destined to have a big week next week, so it behooves all would-be patrons to order their tickets in advance. Other Martelle engagements have proved extraordinarily big, and the present one, because of the unusual worth of the play, is expected to eclipse them all.

Baptist Mission Circle Listens to Account of Mediterranean Trip
At the meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the Baptist church, held last week with Mrs. Jackson, Miss Evelyn Jenkins gave a most entertaining talk on her summer journey abroad.

Encircling the cheery fire on the hearth, fifteen ladies gathered, as Miss Jenkins spread out beautiful curios from many lands. Starting with the pretty sight of floating streamers of ribbon confetti, the ends held by those on the dock and those on the ship, the connection broken as the ship started, the speaker took her eager listeners to the Madeira Islands, with its great profusion of wonderful flowers. There was a glimpse of Gibraltar, a trip into Morocco, landing from little boats in the midst of rough waves, and traveling on donkey-back. There were postcards and pictures from so many places full of interest. Malaga, Genoa, with Columbus' birthplace, and wonderful cemetery of huge galleries and hundreds of marble statues, Naples, Pompeii, Sorrento, the blue grotto at Capri, Venice, Athens, Constantinople, and other places and bright little incidents all along the way.

At Palestine, Miss Jenkins visited the well known places loved by Bible students. The travelers were entertained at Beirut by the Near East Relief, and bought exquisite embroidery from refugees. While Jerusalem was disappointing, Nazareth was lovely and impressive. At the Garden of Gethsemane, a beautiful little service was held, and one of the party sang "In the Garden," by the olive trees. All sorts of treasures for tourists are made from the wood of that tree. A little box and a Testament covered with the yellow wood were admired, also many things from many places, beads and bags, jewelry and perfume, castanets, and a wee carved bear from Lucerne.

Miss Jenkins told of her pleasant, thrilling air trip from Paris to London, and was brimming over with delightful tales of different places and scenes, so much appreciated by those who do not go to see them, though much must be left out of one short evening.

Natural History Society Will Learn How to Make Andover Ratless

The reincarnation of the famous Pied Piper of Hamelin, L. B. Boston of Hyannis-on-the-Cape, will be in Andover on next Tuesday evening, October 21, as the guest of the Andover Natural History society to tell everyone who interested how to make Andover a ratless community.

Mr. Boston has discarded the pipe for barium carbonate and last winter conducted a remarkably successful rat-exterminating campaign on Cape Cod. He is ready to tell his audience just how to carry on a systematic campaign which will not leave a rat's whisker in Andover.

This is the time of year when rats take refuge for the winter in barns and house cellars. They make expensive boarders and lodgers and the havoc they can wreak with the winter's supply of potatoes, apples, squash or corn is a matter not to be considered lightly. Now is the time to get rid of them. It is said that there are as many as ten rats in a litter and with the possibility of eight litters a year, the arithmetical progression is appalling.

To get rid of the rats in one house or barn is not enough. A concerted effort should be made by an entire community to get rid of all these carriers of filth and disease.

Anyone interested in a rat-destroying campaign will be welcome at the meeting to be held in the Pundarch lecture room, Tuesday evening, October 21, at eight o'clock.

A field meeting of the society will be held under the leadership of Frank B. Jenkins, on Saturday afternoon, October 18. The quarries in the vicinity of Falls woods will be visited. An auto bus will leave the Pundarch school at three o'clock.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Andover Natural History society was held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. George Dick, on Wednesday evening. Preliminary plans were made for a Rat Riddance Campaign, to be conducted throughout the town during the weeks following the public meeting.

as is shown by the growth of the St. Paul parish where he ministered which grew to be one of the largest and most flourishing of the Episcopal churches in the West. Under his administration, the church met every demand made upon it by the Nation-Wide Campaign of the General Church. By means of a zoning system, during the five years preceding his election as bishop, the church trebled its income, and is now able, in the bishop's own words, "through thorough organization and the great impetus given the life of the church, through our General Church program, to take care of an annual budget, parochial and extra parochial, of approximately $50,000."

Bishop Cross has been a deputy to two General Conventions of the Church and is the author of a volume entitled, "The Use of Religion" as well as of other articles and pamphlets. He is an eloquent and forceful preacher with a broad, practical outlook on life.

Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Saunders, observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Saturday evening, when they tendered a reception to a large group of relatives who gathered at their home on High street to extend their congratulations and best wishes.

The house was prettily decorated for the affair with fall flowers and autumn leaves. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Saunders were their bridesmaid and best man of twenty-five years ago: Mrs. Saunders' sister, Mrs. Albert Kirkman of Lawrence, and Mr. Saunders' brother, George W. Saunders of Boston. Their daughters, Miss Ruth Eleanor and Helen Dearborn Saunders, also assisted.

The ushers were Miss Mary Alley and Misses Dorothy and Florence Kirkman, nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Saunders. During the evening a musical program was rendered by Miss Dorothy Kirkman, and Miss Marion Burridge gave some pretty exhibitions of toe dancing. Caterer Rhodes served a wedding supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders received many handsome gifts, including silver, cut glass, linen, aluminum ware, and money in gold and silver. Cards and letters of congratulation were also received during the day.

Guests were present from Cambridge, Somerville, Arlington, Medford, Lowell, Detroit, Mich., West Newbury, Boston, and Andover.

Leonard Saunders and Jane Dearborn were married in Ballardvale, on October 11, 1899, by Rev. Mr. Evans, assisted by Rev. Mr. Smith. They have always made their home in this town, Mr. Saunders being an employee of Smith and Manning for twenty-three years.

For six years he has been a regular man on the police force, and is night officer in the square. He is a member of Andover lodge, No. 230, I. O. O. F. Mrs. Saunders belongs to Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge and the Woman's Relief Corps. They are both members of the Free church.

New Chairman Elected for Andover Branch American Red Cross

At a recent meeting of the Directors of the Andover Branch, Essex County Chapter, American Red Cross, Bartlett H. Hayes offered his resignation as chairman, and Dr. Claude M. Fuess was elected in his place. The resignation of Mrs. Donald Appleton from the board was reluctantly accepted at the same meeting. Plans are now being made for the annual Red Cross Roll call, which will this year cover the period from November 11 to November 27, and some definite announcements will shortly be made regarding it.

King's Daughters Convention Today

The Courteous Circle of the King's Daughters are hostess today, to the Essex County Association of the King's Daughters and Sons at the annual convention.

The sessions are held in the South church at 10.30 a.m. and 2.00 p.m. The morning program included an address by President Mrs. Victor E. Miller, order business, and reports of various committees.

Captain Amundsen to Lecture in Andover Next Week

While there is a great difference of opinion as to whether an explorer can subsist on game and fish in the Arctic region, and thus be relieved from the necessity of carrying large supplies of food, such an experiment would be out of the question in the depths of the Antarctic. Captain Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, found neither birds, fish nor animals, after completing a journey of several hundred miles across the Antarctic continent.

This famous explorer, who is now revisiting America, will give a thrilling account of his adventures in the vicinity of the two Poles when he lectures in the Phillips Academy chapel on Thursday evening, October 30. His lecture will be "The Discovery of the South Pole."

AMUNDSEN AT THE SOUTH POLE

TAKING OBSERVATIONS AT THE SOUTH POLE

Admittedly the world's greatest explorer, Captain Amundsen's brilliant achievements have repeatedly aroused the admiration of people in every land. He has been honored by the leading nations and has been decorated by the most distinguished societies. On his previous visit to this country, when he lectured to vast audiences, he made such an impression that hundreds were turned away, and it was necessary for him to repeat his lectures.

Captain Amundsen is an interesting personality. A man of superb physique, with nerves of steel, a flinching courage and infinite resources, he has been termed a modern Viking. His success in reaching the South Pole was largely due to his efficient organization and the thorough manner in which his plans were carried out.

In his forthcoming lecture, which will be a splendidly illustrated with stereoscopic pictures, Captain Amundsen will show some of these sleds and their loads, in addition to featuring numerous incidents of importance in his work as an explorer.

Supper and Entertainment at Free Church

The Free Church Christian Endeavor society entertained more than 250 persons at their supper and movie show last Friday evening in the parish house.

An appetizing menu of cold meats, mashed potatoes, relishes, pies, rolls, and coffee was served at 6.30 o'clock, followed by "The Coward" featuring Charles Ray, a stirring story of Civil War days.

The following young ladies of the Sunday school served as waitresses: Misses Ruth May, Constance Ramsey, Hilda McKinnon, Etta Brown, Jean Macleish, Marjorie Bissett, Jean Edmonds, Evelyn Mayer, Ann Jameson, Marion Hill, Helen Bickell and Martha Moore.

The committee in charge of the affair was: J. Henry Otis, William Barnett, Miss Helen Otis, Alexander Black, Ruth May, Hilda McKinnon and Bertha Cuthill.

Police Court Notes

Frank Richards of 10p ing road, appeared in police court on Wednesday, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was found guilty and fined $10.

Fred Sanborn of Ballardvale, charged with driving a motor vehicle at an unreasonable rate of speed, was found guilty and fined $10. He appealed the case, and was held in $100 bonds for his appearance in Superior court.

"Referendum—Referenda"

The feelings of the young Englishman in the story, "All Wrong", in the September "Forum", coincide exactly with those of the Woman Voter since she has read the pros and cons of the different Referenda.

She distinctly feels now as though she had descended from a jelly-fish instead of a Pilgrim passenger on the Mayflower.

"How under the heavens are we to vote on a Referendum, when we don't even understand what it's all about?" one would-be well-informed female asked.

Old Daniel Webster tells us that a Referendum is "the right to approve or disapprove by popular vote a measure passed upon by a legislature."

And that sounds so easy! We realize that we have the "right", but whether to "approve" or "disapprove" is no easily settled question.

Just read through the Referenda from No. 1 through No. 7, with the arguments for and against.

The trouble is that the arguments on either side are altogether too good! They are too convincing!

No. 1 and 2 are not so bad, and the "Bulletin," the official paper of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, says that all League members should vote "yes" on them.

And the Woman Voter agrees with the "Bulletin," which little pamphlet certainly justifies its existence. The Woman Voter notices that it is carefully perused by the male branch of the family as soon as it falls through the mail slot.

When we arrive at No. 3, is there no guilty feeling about that Home Brew in the cellar?

And No. 4: "Shall the users of gasoline in motors used on the highways of the State pay 2 cents more per gallon than the actual price of the gasoline, this additional amount to be turned over to the State to provide a fund to be used by the State and local communities to build and maintain public highways. That is, shall those who use the roads most pay most toward their upkeep?"

Well, why not? That is, of course, if one hasn't a car, but, if one has—one reads the "arguments against" over again at least twice.

No. 5. This impresses the Woman Voter as being entirely beyond her ken. Especially the technical wording! But she is almost tempted to look over House Document No. 1275, it sounds so legal,—the Report of the Joint Special Committee on Banking Laws,—but noticing that the Referendum reads, "No person shall engage in, or be financially interested in the business of receiving deposits of moneys for safe keeping," she goes no farther, being too conscious that her own personal deposits seem to be mysteriously absorbed by the air; and not even a kind aunt is apt to die and leave her a check!

Then Referendum No. 6 is reached. "Shall daylight saving be retained by law in Massachusetts?" Being particularly sleepy by this time she feels positive that there is but one way to vote on this question.

Referendum No. 7 then looms up—the Child Labor Amendment. The woman who marked her pies "T.M.", and "T.M.", for "Tis mine" and "Taint mine," must have been as muddled as the Woman Voter at this point.

One comment she says, "Of all amendments ever proposed, this is the most important and far-reaching." And again: "If you love your children, read this pamphlet." Being sure that she certainly does love her children the Woman Voter meekly obeys, and is struck with horror when she reads that there is a "Red" look about that amendment! Before that she was sure that it was a "white" as driven snow.

Mr. George R. Nutter, president of the Boston Bar Association, says that "the people as a whole need to be well grounded in matters of constitutional government and its importance to them."

The Woman Voter feels that being intelligent concerning matters of constitutional government is most wearing and tearing. Lubrication is needed.

She loves her country, she loves her children, and she truly loves peace; but that last seems to have fled forever beyond the poles—not the north nor the south, but one of those queer little cuddles into which she will step on November 4, with a pen in her hand, her heart in her mouth, the terrible question before her, "Is this Referendum White or Red", and feeling terrifically Black and Blue in her mental insides.

For all those who have a foggy feeling about the mysterious "Referendum—Referenda" (which reminds us of our Latin grammar days), a meeting will be held, Monday, October 27, at 7.45, in Punchard Hall. Here there will be a real discussion of Referenda.

And remember to "Vote November 4. Vote as you please, but vote."

An Evening of Mud-Slinging

It is not often that the citizens of Andover have inflicted on them such addresses as were made by a few of the candidates representing the Democratic party at the rally on last Friday evening. It doesn't seem possible that so-called educated men could expect to win votes for themselves in a town like Andover, with its reputation for clear thinking and honest conviction in political matters. It showed to what depths a man will go in seeking votes for himself or his party. We are sorry that these men came to Andover—sorry not for themselves, but for the people who gave up the time to listen to such buncombe as they were compelled to hear, and no doubt these men went away satisfied that they had "done a good job". If they made one vote for themselves or for any candidate in the party, we know less about Andover human nature than we are credited with.

It seemed to be the design and purpose of each orator to blacken the character of everyone who bears the appellation "Republican". They did not seem to have a single constructive idea for the party which they represented, but rather they gloried in every opportunity to drag in the mire those who dared oppose them by any other party designation. Their abuse seemed to know no bounds.

One of the speakers went so far as to bring the late President Harding's name into his words of ridicule and abuse. If he aspired to make votes by these tactics we hope he was disappointed, for it is not to be expected that an Andover audience would be swayed by a method so debasing as that of Candidate Mansfield.

Candidate Hon. James M. Curley ran true to form in his denunciation of everyone who was not for Curley. The whole tone of his address was slanderous and overbearing. His master stroke was contained in his threat to clean out the Public Service Commission within twenty-four hours of his taking office. His bark is usually worse than his bite and those who heard him felt that his years in public office had not altered his method of securing votes.

Everyone likes a fair fight, whether baseball, football, or politics. In each of the former contests we hear occasionally of corruption and unclean sportsmanship. These are always looked upon with disfavor by the American public and we are not long in finding out the true values of men. Politics is played in much the same way. We occasionally strike a snag, with corrupt and insincere office holders, but these are also weeded out in due time and everything goes along smoothly again.

There are plenty of arguments which candidates for either party can present at a gathering of voters. There never has been a time, perhaps, when the tariff, the Versailles treaty, the child labor law, or a hundred other questions could not be used in a fair and square argument. But when orators take up an entire evening in abusing another man's character in the hope of piling up votes, it seems that there is something wrong with our system of politics.

We sincerely hope that if other candidates for office come to Andover, they will stick to the fundamentals of the party, so that the voters may be educated on these matters, and leave personalities entirely alone.

Mrs. Gilson Gives First Lecture

The first of a series of ten lectures was given by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, at the November Club house on last Friday afternoon, before an audience of more than fifty persons.

Mrs. Gilson who is a keen propagandist for friendship between the Americas, told entertainingly of her recent trips to South America, and showed several interesting examples of old silver and Peruvian knitting which she had collected in her travels.

Miss Martha Howey, chairman of the Civics department, presided at the meeting, and introduced the speaker.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Gilson's talk, afternoon tea was served with Mrs. John Avery and Mrs. Philip P. Cole pouring.

The next meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, October 24. These lectures are open to the public, the price of the course being $4.50 (to club members $3.00). Single tickets are fifty cents.

Phillips Academy Trustees Elect

At the regular fall meeting of the trustees of Phillips Academy, Alfred L. Ripley, president of the Merchants Bank of Boston, was re-elected president; James C. Sawyer, treasurer; and Principal Alfred E. Stearns, clerk. It was voted to proceed with the plans for landscape development drawn by Charles Platt and Olmsted Brothers, but not until the fund for that purpose has reached $100,000.

The receipts of several gifts were announced including $100,000 from Edward Harkness of New York City; $2000 from the estate of Abraham Burbank Coffin '52, of Winchester, Mass.; and $1000 from the bequest of the late Clarence W. Austin '88. It was also announced that the sum of $25,000 had been given by Mrs. Frederick G. Crane, Frederick G. Crane, Jr., and Miss Rosemary Crane, all of Dalton, to establish the Frederick G. (Continued from page 1)

W. Pitman, Lucius F. Hitchcock, Frank H. Messer, Thomas P. Harriman, A. Lincoln Cates, and William C. Harraden, and by authority of the Grand Master Henry E. Ruggles, were duly obligated and constituted Andover lodge, 230, I.O.F., in St. Matthew's A.F. and A.M. lodge room, on September 19, 1894.

The complete officers' roster after the institution of Andover lodge in 1894 was: Noble grand, Frank H. Messer; vice grand, Lucius F. Hitchcock; secretary, A. Lincoln Cates; treasurer, Thomas P. Harriman; permanent secretary, William B. Morse; R. S. N. G., Walter H. Coleman; L. S. N. G., Herbert F. Chase; R. S. V. G., William L. Frye; L. S. V. G., Charles Morse; O. G., Henry Pomeroy; I. Smith, John W. Birnie, William E. Barton, Adam C. Richardson, and Herbert F. Chase. Initiation followed at the evening session.

Meetings were held regularly in the old G. A. R. hall on Essex street, over the store of Smith & Manning. With the growth in membership of the first year, it was found that these quarters were inadequate and on March 11, 1895, the lodge occupied commodious and convenient quarters in the new Musgrove building in Elm square. Equipment was purchased for the degree work and little by little the young lodge accumulated paraphernalia which made possible the presentation of Friendship, Love and Truth, in the most impressive manner.

For over twenty years the lodge occupied these quarters, with an ever-increasing membership. Putting into practice their tenets of Friendship and Brotherly Love, they co-operated with the Andover lodge of Pythians and Clan Johnston, O. S. C., and the new Andover Fraternal building on Park street became a home for these organizations in April of this year.

The first initiation in Fraternal hall by Andover Odd Fellows was a big event and the work was performed by past noble grands. Frank M. Smith, who was vice-grand at the first initiation in the new hall in the Musgrove building, was also vice-grand at the first initiation in the new Fraternal building.

From 1894 to 1896 the noble grands were elected annually, and William C. Harraden of North Andover has the unique honor of serving for two consecutive years. He was noble grand of the degree staff of past grands who performed Wednesday night at the 30th anniversary.

From 1897 to 1909, noble grands were elected semi-annually. Since that time the presiding officers have each had a one-year term. Of the forty-three past noble grands, six have gone to the Supreme lodge, Frank H. Messer, Frank H. Knight, L. H. Eames, Ira A. Eastman, Louis A. Dane, George C. Spaulding.

The noble grands:
1894—Frank H. Messer.
1895—William C. Harraden.
1896—William C. Harraden.

1919—Alfred Lundgren.
1920—Alexander Mackenzie.
1921—George D. Stott.

1922—Samuel D. Stubbs.
1923—Herbert W. Ford.

No history of Andover lodge would be complete without reference to the yeoman service rendered by its treasurer, George E. Holt. The finances of an organization are important and those of Andover lodge are in excellent condition. A large share of the credit goes to Treasurer Holt, who is serving his twenty-seventh consecutive term in that capacity. At his 25th anniversary, two years ago he was presented with a beautiful gold emblem.

The officers of the lodge, which now has a membership of 252, are: Herbert W. Ford, N. G.; Bertram S. Stott, V. G.; Ira Buxton, recording secretary; Arthur W. Holt, financial secretary; George E. Holt, treasurer; George Brown, warden; Edward C. Emslie, conductor; David M. May, chaplain;

Holiday Motor Accidents

The corner of Chestnut and Main streets was again the scene of an automobile accident on Monday, when a machine driven by Miss Evelyn Bailey, was struck by a truck operated by Angelona Capadona of 109 Center street, Waltham.

Miss Bailey, whose car had been parked in front of Lowe's drug store, started to turn around before proceeding up Main street, and according to the testimony of witnesses signaled with her extended arm. As she paused on the car track, waiting for an opportunity to fall in to the line of cars moving south, she was struck by the truck driving down Main street. According to report of the police there was room for the truck to have passed behind the car. Either the truck was proceeding at an unreasonable rate of speed, or the brakes were not working well as it is said that the brakes were applied ninety-six feet from the point where the collision took place. The Bailey car was badly damaged, but no one was injured.

A car owned and driven by Harold P. Bradford of 8 Summer street, was in collision with a car driven by Mike Chonto of Common street late Monday afternoon and both cars were damaged although no one was injured. The accident took place near the residence of William M. Wood, when the cars going in opposite directions both attempted to cut in at the same time.

A third holiday accident took place on Elm street, when machines driven by Donat Ducharme of 537 Fletcher street, Lowell, and Vincenzo Di Benedetto of Elm street, Lawrence, were damaged. Occupants of the Benedetto car suffered from minor cuts and bruises.

On Friday of last week, seven-year-old Margaret Eastwood, of North Main street, was knocked down by a car driven by Walter K. Oliver of 61 Burrill avenue, East Lynn. The child is thought to have escaped without injury.

ROGERS—WATSON

The marriage of Miss Mary Frances Watson of Boston, daughter of Carol Watson of Bath, Maine, and Dr. William Rogers of Yonkers, N. Y., was solemnized on Wednesday, at Christ church. The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by the rector, Rev. Charles W. Henry.

The bride wore a traveling costume of blue trimmed with gray squirrel, with a hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses and white sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Sally Bartlett, who wore brown. The best man was Dr. King of New York City.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ashley Watson of 29 High street.

The bride formerly made her home in Andover and attended Abbot academy, with the class of 1920. She graduated from Bishop Hopkins' school, Burlington, Vermont, and later trained as a nurse at the Children's hospital in Boston, completing her course this spring. Dr. Rogers is a member of the staff of the Massachusetts General hospital.

After a wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Rogers will make their home in Cambridge.

Change in Dates

At a meeting of the height-judging contest committee held last night, it was voted to change the dates of the contest from October 29, 30, 31, and November 1, to November 24, 25, 26, and 27. This change was necessitated owing to some delay in making arrangements for the flight. It will also give more time for disposing of tickets, as there has been a great demand for them in surrounding cities and towns.

The long list of prizes offered has been increased this week, and in all the committee offers thirty articles to the ones who can guess the height of the aviator.

At a well-attended meeting of the American Legion held Tuesday evening, it was voted to hold an open forum on Tuesday evening, October 28, for the discussion of the Referenda which are to be voted on at the November election.

Speakers will be secured and it is hoped the townspeople will attend in sufficient numbers to discuss both sides of the questions. If interest in the meeting warrants it, the forum will be held in the Town Hall instead of in the Legion rooms.

The new ruling of the selectmen that no automobiles should be parked opposite the Town House, and protests against the arrangement, were expressed by James Dempsey, Edward Wilson, John McDonough, Herbert Lyle, and William Rennie.

The following resolution was presented and voted upon at the meeting:

Whereas the creation of a zone where no parking is permitted near the engine house has caused considerable inconvenience to several citizens, be it resolved: That the Andover Post of the American Legion request the selectmen to appoint a town planning committee to make a comprehensive report to the next town meeting looking toward the best possible future growth of the town.

Andover after Sixty Years

A few days ago Mrs. Alice Vandien Leele, of Ridgewood, N. J., after an absence of sixty years, visited Andover and took great pleasure in meeting some of the friends of her girlhood. For this express purpose she made the trip from New York by motor with her daughter, Mrs. Amy Lau.

She found the well-remembered Upton homestead in West Andover where she used to go for Thanksgiving dinners, when Mr. Augustus and Mr. George Upton, Mrs. Eliza Upton Kendall (mother of Mr. Frank Kendall), and Mrs. Martha Upton French were young people in the home. She lived in Andover with Mr. William Upton's family in the house now occupied by Mrs. George Trumbull, on Main street, corner of Morton, and was overjoyed to visit with the daughter, Mrs. Mattie Upton Swanton, at Mrs. Bradford's, and with her Pynchard teacher, Mrs. Mary Nourse Cutler, in West Andover.

Her school-days at Pynchard were in Mr. Goldsmith's administration, and at Abbot Academy in Miss McKee's. She enjoyed attending morning chapel at Abbot, and seeing all the new developments, though nothing looked at all familiar except Abbot Hall with its old pillars, and even that was turned round from the position facing School street, which it originally held.

Mrs. Leele was such a delightful person in her enthusiasms and was so determined not to let the natural sadness arising from the many changes shadow her visit that she made this experience of hers a happy one also to those who in any slight way shared it with her.

Punchard 7 Newburyport 7

Punchard and Newburyport High had a battle on the gridiron last Saturday afternoon, and when the smoke had cleared away the score was tied 7 points for each team.

It was a close game, full of exciting incidents and there was a lot of good football shown by each team. The scoring for both sides was made through breaks of the game, both Punchard and Newburyport taking advantage of misplays.

Punchard scored first, when Murphy broke through the opponent's line, blocked an attempted lateral pass, and scooped up the ball. His run for a touchdown from mid-field was the outstanding feature of the first half. Timely interference by Captain Murphy to continue over the goal line.

In the second half of the contest, Punchard had much the better of the argument, making five first downs and holding Newburyport on every attempted rush.

In this half they did not make a first down. From scoring, while they made seven points themselves, the touchdown was made as the result of Coutts' punt being blocked on Punchard's 10-yard line. The ball rolled over the goal line and Murray fell on it for a touchdown.

Punchard deserves credit for its good showing in this game as Newburyport is rated as a very strong team. Their players were much heavier than the local boys and although outweighed, they were not outplayed.

The lineups:

PUNCHARD: r.e., Coutts; t.e., Polgren; c., Doyle; g., Simeone; i.e., Adams; q., Souter; r.h.b., Fallon; l.h.b., Stevenson; k.e., f.b., Murphy.

Score by periods:

Newburyport 0 0 0 7 7

Punchard 0 0 7 0 7

Touchdowns: made by Murray, Murphy.

Points by goal after touchdown: made by Souter, Murray. Referee: Fleming, Boston.

Umpire: Norton, Boston. Linesman: Volpone, Newburyport. Time: 10-minute periods.

WIN GAME ON NEW FIELD

line but again he found it a wall of stone. Harvard as a last resort, tried a drop kick, but Burns broke through, blocked it, and then picked up the rolling pigskin, as he was dashing toward the Harvard line. He was pulled down on Andover's 46-yard line, but the play led to the first touchdown.

Failing to make any appreciable impression, Sandberg dropped back to kick and Crawford fumbled. Darbe was on the scent, pulled the ball into him without slackening his speed and never stopped until he crossed the Harvard line. He covered 27 yards in that jog to history—for they were the first points to be scored on the new field. Billhardt missed the try to drop kick.

The last score was made in the fourth period. Billhardt heaved the ball to Darbe, who made the catch while seated on the ground. This advanced the ball to midfield. Billhardt was thrown back for three yards on his line smash. Turning again to an overhead play, Billhardt's pass to Darbe failed, but a Crimson had pushed Darbe instead of playing the ball and it was the Blue's first down where the foul was committed.

On the next, Billhardt squirmed his way through Harvard's right side and then shifting quickly to the right, stepped his way through a broken field 30 yards and was dragged down two yards short of a touchdown. On the second try, Billhardt bowled through and Sandberg ran the score to 13 points when he drop-kicked the extra point.

Outside the first and second periods, Harvard was never dangerous. Its backs ran well enough, but the forwards, heavier than Andover, lacked cohesion and the Blue had little trouble breaking through and smearing their plays.

What is a Well-dressed Man?

To be well-dressed, a man doesn't need the profits of a Barrymore, the bearing of a Westpointer, or the income of a bank president.

Good looks are not necessary, as long as a man has good taste. And as far as income goes—well, many of our best-dressed patrons are young men whose salaries must go a long way, with every dollar doing its duty.

Clothcraft Clothes, though very modestly priced, possess the same elements to be found in expensive custom-made garments—style that is clean-cut—and well-manicured—fabrics of pure texture and pleasing patterns—tailoring that is perfect in every particular.

If you wear Clothcraft Clothes, you are a well-dressed man.

DAYLIGHT LAW HITS BUSINESS

Manufacturers Worst Sufferers, Declares Farm Expert

A warning has been issued to Massachusetts manufacturers and business men by Arthur W. Gilbert, commissioner of agriculture, that daylight saving is operating as a serious factor in a situation that threatens the industrial supremacy of this State.

"Daylight saving imposes a heavy burden on the farmer," said Commissioner Gilbert. "It adds an average cost of $253 per farm per year, or a total of $8,000,000. That all goes onto the price of food, and the food cost to working families in this State is about $50,000,000 a year more than would be the case if they lived in manufacturing centres of the West.

"Massachusetts consumes about $300,000,000 worth of food annually and produces only about $90,000,000 worth. This reacts seriously on the industrial situation. The cost of labor, which is one of the heaviest items in manufacturing, depends in large measure on cost of food. Therefore, it is of the utmost importance to our industries that Massachusetts should raise more of its food supply. It is well known that many are moving to other sections where there is a fairer balance between wages and the cost of living. The situation affects employers and employees alike.

"Our manufacturing supremacy is actually threatened by our decay of agriculture, in which daylight saving is a big factor. It is no use to talk about 'encouraging agriculture' so long as this law is on the books. Farm labor nowadays is mostly day labor, which insists on the same hours as other labor. Under daylight saving, farm help goes to work at an hour when the dew is on the grass and crops and when no effective work can be done, and the laborer quits a 5 o'clock in the afternoon (4 o'clock real time), the most valuable period of the day to the farmer, who thus pays for labor at a time when he cannot use it and cannot get it when he most needs it.

"Forty-two per cent of the family budget is made up of food, which today costs 11 per cent more in Boston than in Western cities. This is a serious situation and it affects every man and woman in Massachusetts regardless of his or her occupation. In comparison with this grave condition, 'daylight saving' golf and 'twilight league baseball' sink into insignificance."

Babies on a Train

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

BABIES nearly always cry On a train; And I also think that I Would complain If you took me from my cot On a dusty day and hot, On a railroad jiggled me, Where I didn't want to be, When I didn't want to roam, Wanted just to stay at home.

Babies nearly always yell Loud and long; And I think I'd shout as well, Good and strong, If my mother took me out, Tugged and tumbled me about, Shook me up and shook me down, Hustled me from town to town, When I wanted most to stay Right at home on such a day.

Babies always cry before The journey's through, Babies always raise a roar— So would you. Seems to me that all along Railroads are entirely wrong! All it does, a railroad car, Is take you from the place you are Some other place you aren't at. Tell me, what's the sense of that? (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SAYLESVILLE GAME TIED

Injuries to Two Players Cost Shawshen a Point—Neither Side Succeeded in Scoring a Goal

The meeting of Shawshen and Saylesville at Balmoral Field on Saturday afternoon resulted in a goalless tie and Shawshen lost two good players by accident. Mills and Thomson came together with their heads and were carried from the field. Thomson was forced to have three stitches in his forehead to close up the ugly wound and there is no doubt but this accident cost Shawshen a point.

Saylesville was indeed lucky during the first half, when Shawshen had two-thirds of the play. McNab was at fault several times with poor shooting, and Begos also put up a great game between the sticks. Right at the start Shawshen was handicapped when they were forced to leave Smith out of their team.

Ross won the toss and decided to play towards the Andover goal. Littleford started the game and Boyle put out to Tickle and the right outside went away but his final shot was just wide of the post. Good play by Purden resulted in McMasters being left with a good opening, but he shot yards wide of the mark. Beardsworth put in some good play and then gave to Boyle who in turn gave to Tickle, but Ross put into touch, and checked the right outside. The ball again came to Tickle but this time the right outside shot yards wide of the goal.

Freddy Beardsworth was applauded for some good defensive play when he pulled up Purden and McMasters and got the ball away. Shawshen forced a corner on the left, which was well placed by McMasters, but again McNab shot over the bar. Boyle went away on the Saylesville right and after beating Ross, made tracks for goal but Whitehead came across and took the ball from his toe, effecting a clearance.

Good play by Hughes and Kendall carried the ball into the Shawshen goal but Littleford was just too high with a good shot from five yards out.

Again Kendall and Hughes carried the ball up the wing but this time Hughes shot yards over the bar. Play was quickly transferred to the Saylesville end where Begos pulled off another great save, when McMasters sent in a shot from six yards out. It was labelled a goal but Begos pulled off the save and the next minute did the same thing from Bushnell.

Play was mostly in the Saylesville half of the field and from a center off Bushnell Purden was just outside the post with a good shot.

Carrie gave to McNab but again the Shawshen center shot high over the bar. Buckle nicely checked McMasters and put up the field to Tickle; the right outside went away and from his center Kendall tested Murdoch with a good shot, which the goalie did well to save. At the other end Begos pulled off his two great saves in quick succession, from McNab and Bushnell, for which he was well applauded. At the other end Tickle spoiled good play by Boyle and Littleford when he shot yards wide of the goal.

Shawshen tried hard to score and shots were tried by McNab, Bushnell, Purden and McMasters, but those that did go over the bar Begos stopped. The Polish-American boy was surely giving a great exhibition of goalkeeping and several times the fans applauded his wonderful saves.

At last Saylesville went away on the left and Murdoch saved well from Hughes near the goal post. At the other end good play by Carrie and Thomson came to nothing when Purden was pulled up for offside.

Saylesville took a turn in the attack and after good play by Kendall and Hughes, Boyle was left with a good opening, but missed his kick and Ross cleared. Murdoch saved well from Hughes just as the whistle sounded for half time with the score sheet blank.

McNab started the second half right away went the Saylesville right wing but offside again Littleford pulled them up. Thomson put outside to McMasters but he centered Bushnell was pulled up for offside.

Good play by Thomson was lost when McMasters ran the ball out of play. The game was now very fast and both teams were striving hard to gain the upper hand but each team was blessed with a good defense. Boyle and Tickle combined well and carried the ball down the inside left, hitting the bar with a good shot.

Hughes received a nice pass from Miller and the outside man again shot well. It was at this point that the accident to Thomson and Mills occurred and both were carried from the field. It was seen that Shawshen would be left with only nine men to play the rest of the game. This misfortune seemed to take all the heart out of both teams.

Bushnell sent away on the Shawshen right and from his center Begos was forced to fire the ball out of danger. At the other end McNab was left with a good opening, but did not seem to be able to play the one-back game at all. Bushnell again gave Begos a good shot but still the Saylesville would not be beaten.

Offside against Hughes pulled up the Rhode Island front rank, after good play by Miller. Shawshen was now putting up a great game and although playing two men less than Saylesville they were holding their own. Time came without any score being registered and Shawshen had withstood another stroke of ill luck. The lineup:

Andover's Experiment in Rock Plowing

"Will one plow rock with oxen?" Amos

If the mind of man has reached certitude touching anything in this world, it is the belief that every force it knows anything about, is governed by law. From the twirling of a frog's leg to the perturbation of the planets and from the rising of an emotion to the rising of the tides, all is under the reign of law. This fact was clearly discerned over 3000 years ago by an obscure, uneducated day-laborer living in the little country town of Tekoa some twelve miles from Jerusalem. He knew nothing of psychology, evolution, zymotic diseases, political economy or international law. Few men ever lived under a more primitive or restricted environment than did he, nor was more keenly conscious of this fact. "I was no prophet neither was I a prophet's son but I was at herdsmanship and a gatherer of wild figs." Yet in spite of his isolation and meager opportunities he flung the plummet of his reflective thought clean down to the roots of life and there discovered those elemental laws that govern both the outward and the inward life of man. By so doing he anticipated the search of philosophers and scientists by 3000 years.

To the unreflective mind, life is chaotic. Its multitudinous facts confuse and heavier whelm the mind till they are reduced to order and organized into law. Thus simplified, these chaotic facts can be handled with far less mental effort. Failure to discover an economical law in the financial world just now explains the present muddle in Europe and America, and lies at the root of our own town problems. Amos found, as we today find, that nowhere do men violate economic laws so flagrantly and blindly as in their conduct of government. In the ordinary conduct of life men exercise business prudence and common sense but these are thrown to the winds in their conduct of town and city affairs. What puzzled Amos and what puzzles many of us in Andover today is why in town affairs people do not show the same horse-sense they show in their own domestic or business concern.

Amos is here arguing with men in authority whom he finds binding heavier and heavier burdens of taxes upon the poorer people in order to gratify their own exorbitant ambitions. They are building palaces and lying "upon beds of ivory" and forcing the hard-worked farmers to foot the bills by daily taxes of "wheat."

I suggest that those in our town who have recently hired a landscape architect to body forth their personal ambition for Andover in the form of a new playground—

"a quarter mile track with broad-jump, pole vault, and high jump pits, eight tennis courts, two outdoor base-ball courts, an open air gymnasium, a children's playground with a wading pool, four baseball diamonds, and three sets of bleachers," etc. etc. etc. who have adroitly tied up their beautiful ideal with a war memorial to our dead soldier boys, hoping thus to hide their personal ambition under the mask of patriotism—I suggest that these towns planners read the book of Amos before our next town meeting. For I know of no more delightful occupation, one more congenial to the "easy-going mood," one more in harmony with modern life, one requiring less strain upon the thinking machinery, one attended with less friction from outsiders or so fitted to swell within one a sense of importance than the spending of town money.

To be able by the mere raising of the hand in town meeting to control ten, forty, or a hundred thousand dollars gives to the voter, especially if he be only a poll tax payer, a thrill of opulent generosity that would not occur to him in a lifetime with his own earned money. Such men would never dream of spending $40 a week when their pay envelope contained only $25. They have too much common sense to do this. "Will men plow rock with oxen?" For the last ten years the town of Andover has yearly over-spent its income and eaten into its capital from $30,000 to $50,000. This the voters will continue to do, till the business men of Andover bring over into our town affairs the same economic principles and policies that so conspicuously govern their private businesses. At present a large percentage of our business men are totally indifferent to public affairs. Their own private industries absorb their entire thought and they leave the town affairs to shuffle along the best they may. But once their lethargy is thrown off and their "strenuous mood" gets its shoulders in underneath town doings a great change may be looked for. Then our imperative demands will get on top and many ideals that now bulk large in the popular mind will be sent to the scrap heap. For ideals have relative values. While all may be intrinsically good, all are not essential. Competition of ideals there always will be, but the right of way should be given only to those that meet an imperative demand. Is any level-headed, judiciously-minded, business man in Andover in doubt what are the imperative demands of our town? Is it not our clear duty to cease longer running deeper into debt and instead to reduce our debt and interest charges year by year for the next twenty years, meanwhile to adopt a pay-as-you-go policy till both debt and interest charges are wiped off the slate? By so doing our saving of interest charges alone would pay for playgrounds, swimming pool, band concerts and a host

Occupying New School

The pupils in the Shawshen Village district, moved from the old Richardson school yesterday, into the new school on Poor street. Owing to the larger number of pupils it was necessary to divide the classes into two sessions, half going in the morning and the remainder in the afternoon. With the new school the usual morning and afternoon session for all pupils will be followed. About 200 pupils will occupy the new school Miss Genevieve McNally is principal.

Shawshen Community Church
The usual services of the Shawshen Village community church will be held next Sunday evening at 7.30, in Balmoral hall.

The Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody of Grace church, Lawrence, will make the address, and Miss Mabel Carter of Andover, will be the soloist. The regular church choir, under the direction of Gordon S. Brown, will sing "The Radiant Horn Has Passed Away" by Woodward.

The choir this year shows promise of great success, but there is need of one or two more voices, especially a tenor.

The Sunday school, which meets at 9.30 a.m., in Balmoral hall, is making a fine start this season. Eighty children attended
